Dear Linda,
It has been real swell knowing you this past semester. You are a real nice girl and will go far in life. I hope you and Richard get married real soon and are happy. Love, Mary Hamm BOYS

These are the things that count . . .

Woodrow Wilson is a different school now from what is has been in any past year, different because it reflects us: and now we are Wilson. We have given to it our efforts and our passions, our spirit and our faith. Wilson in turn has given much to us. We have learned the practicality and the foresight which are necessary to excell in our civilization. Still, in our mechanized society, we know never to disregard the heart of human thought, the humanitarianism necessary if we are to live wisely, justly, humanely. We have come to realize the importance of knowledge and truth, the keys to understanding and to happiness. We have become a part of the traditions and character which make Wilson, for this one moment in time, our way of life—a common bond between us. And we remember—cherish the thoughts of these things which count, the things which have built meaning into our lives and purpose into our goals.

These, then, are

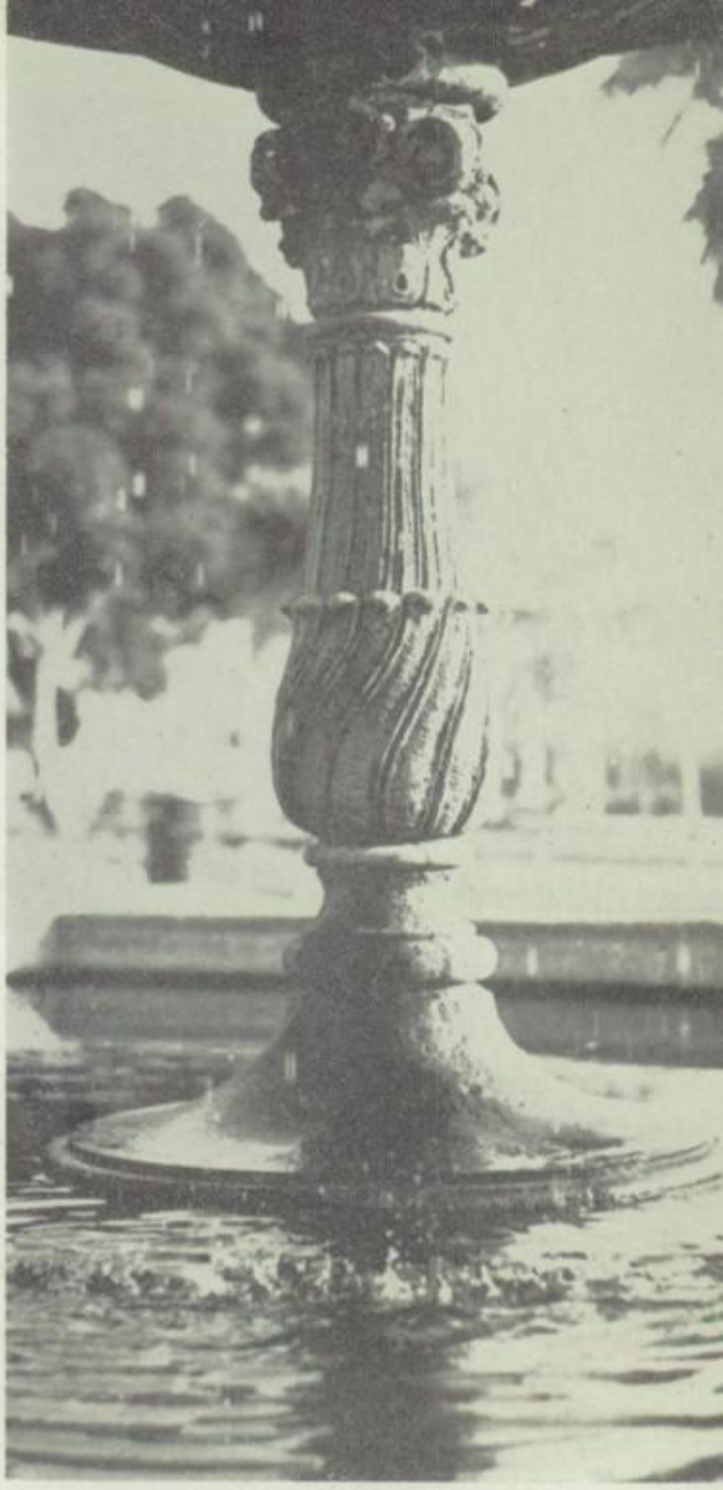
Volume 33 June 1959

Woodrow Wilson High School
Long Beach, California

The years will pass, as sand slips through the hand,
And future dreams will be reality.
The past will fade till only those things grand
Remain, engraved upon the memory.
And when we see what jewels lie in the chest
Of mind and heart, and which are paramount,
Then we can see which jewels outshine the rest
And truly say, "These are the things that count."
The thoughts of high school friends who had to part,
Remembered scenes of patio and hall,
The souvenirs we keep within our heart,
The knowledge, ardent spirit in our call—
When Wilson's memories rise like its fount,
Then truly say, "These are the things that count."



Linda,
It's your decision! Good luck in it. Hope you always see the realizations of your dreams.
God bless you,
Adel

DR. WILLIAM L. KEELEY — Principal

DEDICATION

Graduation time . . . Seniors are leaving Wilson, ascending to new levels of work and achievement. They are told that the school will remain unchanged without them (a fact very hard to accept), for the buildings and the activities, the teachers and the administration remain, and the things that count will be passed on to new generations.

In the coming year, however, Wilson will be different. As the seniors say good-by and leave for college, Dr. Keeley, our principal, will also say good-by and leave for college—to become dean of the liberal arts division of City College. Perhaps he too will feel the nostalgia for Wilson that the seniors feel. Perhaps he too will want a remembrance of the things that count. Therefore, to him is dedicated the 1959 Campanile, a symbol of Wilson spirit and an embodiment of the things that count.

ADMINISTRATION, FACULTY

These are the things that count . . .

COUNSELORS

MR. HARRY LEWIS

LOIS ZELSDORF

Throughout the year, one of the busiest places at Wilson is the counselors' office. Here a student goes to discuss personal problems or to get educational and vocational guidance. Available in the counselors' office are books and pamphlets to help Wilsonites select suitable employment. There are also catalogues to aid the student in the selection of a college where he will find superior education and appropriate training.

MR. BEN HUMPHREY

Headed by Mr. Humphrey, Wilson's counseling staff is constantly at work to solve pupil educational problems. Mr. Johnson, in charge of vocational guidance, helps students to select careers suitable to their personalities and talents. Mr. Lewis is in charge of scholarships; he assists students in applying for financial aid. Mrs. James is in charge of the testing program while Miss Zelsdorf heads the superior pupil program.

MRS. MARGARET JAMES

ADMINISTRATORS

MRS. DOROTHY W. ROBERTS, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Mrs. Roberts hopes Wilson will always maintain high academic standards and that it will continue to produce qualified students to take responsible positions in tomorrow's world. As assistant principal, she sponsors the Girls' League, handles girls' discipline and prepares the master teaching program. Mrs. Roberts attended the University of California at Berkeley, where she received a B.A. Degree. She began her teaching career at Chaffey High in Ontario. Later she moved to Lindbergh Junior High School in Long Beach, remaining there for two years before transferring to Wilson. After a brief stay at Wilson, Mrs. Roberts returned to Lindbergh as counselor; this post she held for eight years. In September, 1953, she returned to Wilson as assistant principal.

Mr. Wattelet says he is happy at Wilson and, on the whole, he feels it has an excellent student body. He hopes to keep Wilson on an even keel and someday to enlarge the student body services as more funds become available. Mr. Wattelet graduated from Poly High, where he played basketball and where he was also on a national scholastic medal swimming team. From Poly he went to the University of Southern California, where he was awarded a B.A. Degree in Business Administration and a Master's Degree in Education. Mr. Wattelet came to Wilson for the first time in 1942. After a tour of duty as a naval officer during World War II, he returned to Wilson as a counselor. In 1950 he again left school to serve in the military forces during the Korean conflict. Following that war, he became vice-principal first at Hamilton Junior High and then at DeMille. In 1957 he came home to Wilson as vice-principal. Among his duties here he lists the management of student body finance, supervision of assemblies and the handing of discipline for seniors.

THOMAS ROSS WATTELET, VICE-PRINCIPAL

Mr. McKenzie is in charge of the discipline of Wilson sophomore and junior boys, the checking of attendance, and the scheduling of disaster drills. He is very happy to be at Wilson and he thinks the student body is very mature. He also believes the Wilson athletic program is very fine, and that it does a remarkable job in developing the character of the participants. Mr. McKenzie first attended Long Beach City College. He then went to UCLA, where he received a general secondary teaching credential. At Long Beach State College he earned his Master's Degree and his Administrative credential. He began teaching at Bancroft Junior High School; he remained there one year before transferring to Wilson at the beginning of the present school year.

MR. E. D. McKENZIE

English Department

English has been called by many one of the world's most difficult languages. Wilson, therefore, has many courses to assist students in the delicate, if difficult, art of written and verbal expression. The required sophomore and junior English grammar courses, English literature, public speaking, dramatics, grammar and composition, journalism, and Campanile staff give students great opportunity to become versed in the language of their country. Many Wilsonites will always remember the real pleasure of taking English from such teachers as Mr. Caesar, Mr. Cytron, Mr. Cox, Mrs. Fenberg, Mr. Henselman, Mr. McBade, Mrs. Minami, Mrs. Sonner, and Mrs. Townsend, department head.

Social Living

The Social Living Department presents to sophomores English and World History, required courses. World History gives to students the historical background necessary to comprehend the functions and fears of the world of today. The English curriculum consists of perfecting grammar and written skill. Teaching social living are Mr. Eveland, who is department head, Mr. Branch, Mr. Caesar, Mrs. Drummond, Mrs. Foxhoven, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Hendricks, Mrs. James, Mr. McBade, Mr. Kissack, Mrs. Northrup, Mr. Rehnstrand, Miss Rilliet, Mrs. Weiland, Miss Zelsdorf and Mr. O'Byrne.

Social Studies

This is the age of Space—of threats to American democacy—of the necessity for judgment and diplomacy. Those who will inherit tomorrow's world must be prepared to meet its challenge. Thus, in their junior year, Wilsonites study American history and government. Senior students examine present day problems, related to themselves and their own lives, and study for a semester the American economic system and its related problems. Mr. Davis Woodward heads this department. Teachers of social studies are Mr. Broesamle, Mr. Freeland, Mr. Henselman, Mrs. Northrup, Mr. O'Byrne, Mr. Phipps, Mr. Raney, Mr. Turnbull and Miss Wilcox.

Science

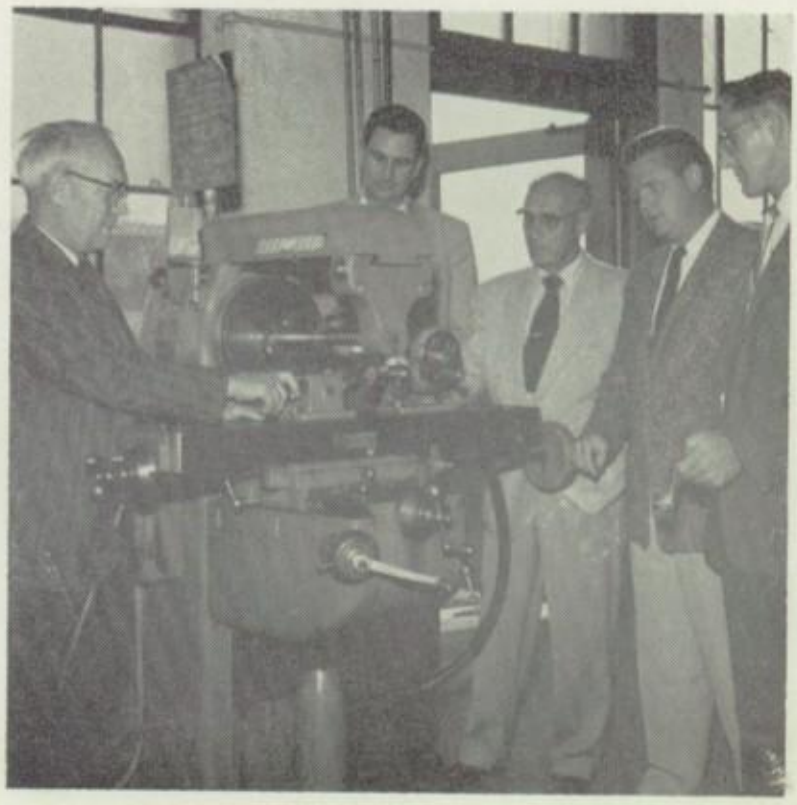
Each student, at some point in his career at Wilson, comes in contact with the Science Department, with its many courses from practical science to physics. In these classes many phases of the infinite world of science are explored, and terms such as insects, acids, osmosis, solutions, beakers, and circuits become meaningful and familiar. Perhaps from one of Wilson's science classes will come another Edison, a Salk, or even an Einstein. Teachers in the science department are Mr. Burkett, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Edmonds, Mr. Egelko, Mr. Ferris, Mr. Langlois, and Dr. Voisard, department head.

Music

Award-winning musical groups have been traditional of Wilson's past and present. The unity and cooperation of these groups bring spirit to the campus and renown to the school. Under the direction of Mr. Ellithorpe and Mr. Furjanick, the glee clubs, choir, band, and orchestra make the production of the operetta, A.F.S. concert, and traditional seasonal programs possible. The band does a great deal to add to the festive spirit of the pep assemblies and football games.

Industrial Arts

Very popular with Wilson boys who like to work with their hands, the industrial arts classes include woodshop, metal shop, industrial drawing, graphic arts and architectural drawing. In these and related fields, boys enrolled in the industrial arts classes compete annually in a variety of contests. The department, headed by Mr. Thomas, numbers among its teachers Mr. Betz, Mr. Green, Mr. Lorenzen and Mr. Morrison.



Homemaking

A subject vitally interesting to all senior girls is homemaking, for it covers the full range of study involved in the management of the home. Future homemakers are taught the importance of budgeting, the value of suitable home decoration, the principles of child guidance, the psychology of a successful marriage, and the skills of sewing, cooking, and grooming. In addition, the course offers a variety of experiences which bring the problems of making a home into vivid focus. The teachers in this department are Mrs. Drummond and Mrs. Wieland.

Art Department

The Art Department at Wilson offers endless opportunities for students interested in creative expression. The diversified program of the Art department includes classes dealing with all phases of art in both the classic and commercial field. One of the most popular courses offered is crafts, where students produce interesting and often eye-catching results with many different materials. Beginning painting and drawing deals with the basic fundamentals of art such as color, use, and composition. For Juniors and Seniors an advanced painting and drawing course is offered in which both these subjects are studied extensively. The preparation for all dramatic productions is the responsibility of the Art department. Some of the department's biggest projects this year were the production of the Christmas Play, the School Play, and the Operetta. Our thanks go out to Mr. Valentino and Mrs. Routt for making this one of the most productive departments on campus.

Library

The students who use the Wilson Library seek information or entertainment from over 25,000 books. The special services performed by the librarians, Miss Holty and Mrs. Boorkman, are invaluable. Special displays, such as book covers, pictures, and other illustrative materials, are set out in the library and classrooms. Book lists and bibliographies are prepared, listing related books in a course of study or in types for recreational reading. Periodic announcements are made of new material available. However, the library never overlooks its main goal: to provide materials which will enrich learning and teaching, and will develop an enthusiasm for reading.

Foreign Language

In a world of increased tension, great stress is placed on human communication. Wilson's language department, under the direction of Miss Weston, strives to teach understanding, the essence of communication, by a study of language and people. German, Latin, French, and Spanish are taught in this department by teachers Miss Weston, Mr. Karlik, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Lewis, Miss Cobb, Miss Dougherty, Mr. Contreras, and Mr. Freeland.

Mathematics

From the fundamentals of arithmetic tc the complexities of trigonometry, students find the answers to questions of everyday life in their math classes. Such classes teach not only the principles of mathmatics and the solving of textbook problems, but a logical or mechanical application of these principles to the problems of living. This is vitally important; for, in our civilization, all walks of life employ mathematics. Under the leadership of Mr. Bakken, teachers in this department are Mr. Chuka, Dr. Harter, Mr. Huffman, Mr. Lorenzen, Mrs. McBurnie, Mr. Peters and Mr. Bilyeu.

Business Education

Business courses are open to those students who desire to learn business principles and leadership training. Such courses combine vocational planning with actual preparation for a career in the business field. Students instructed in bookkeeping, business law, and business arithmetic receive education which will be helpful in the business vocations. The thanks for this special educational privilege is given to Mr. Haun, head of the department, and to his co-workers Mrs. Allgood, Mr. Baldwin, Mrs. Bayless, Mr. Bilyeu, Miss Brown, Mrs. Jackson, and Mr. Rossi.

Boys' P.E.

All boys at Wilson take either physical education or military science. In their classes, emphasis is placed upon physical skills and development. Regular classes are scheduled throughout the day; during seventh period and after school boys may participate in team activities. Headed by Mr. R. Davis, other teachers in the boys' physical education department are Mr. Allen, Mr. Archer, Mr. Chuka, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Hendricks, Mr. Robbins, Mr. Meyer and Mr. Rowland.

Girls' P.E.

Girls' Physical Education, required all three years at Wilson, strives to develop poise, sportsmanship, and coordination. This department, under the able direction of Miss Thomas, is staffed by Mrs. Acterman, Miss Belcher, Miss Govas, Miss Thomas, Mrs. Smart, and Mrs. Scheman. Upon recommendation, one may enter Miss Govas' advanced tennis class. Miss Govas also sponsors GAA, the second largest girls' organization on campus. This group of almost five hundred girls provided an excellent opportunity for fellowship and fun.

Nurse

The school nurse is unquestionably an essential part of Wilson's health and happiness. Her goal is to help the individual enjoy his good health, and by doing so, to become a better adjusted citizen. As a member of the staff at our school, Mrs. Sullivan works with the administration, but is directly responsible to the director of health service in carrying out her duties. The most important of these duties are the prevention and control of disease and emergency care of sick and injured. She appraises the health status of students and school personnel, counsels pupils and parents concerning her findings, encourages the correction of remedial defects, and helps to plan for the care and education of the handicapped. In her efforts to further interest in medicine, she sponsors the Medical Health Club.

The Cafeteria

In the Wilson cafeteria, year after year, hot, wholesome meals are served to hundreds of students daily—served well and efficiently, so that we can eat in the time provided and still have a few free minutes for relaxation before the next class, or to do a quick review for a coming test. The meals are varied: they provide the energy and sustinence any of us will need at a mid-day meal. In addition, the same cafeteria service provides a snack for hundreds more students during two morning nutrition periods.

Wilson to Me . . .

Penny Bryant

Wilson doesn't need me anymore. Others will come to take my place and school life will go on unchanged. I too will go on, but not unchanged, for Wilson has prepared me for the future. Before I face that future, I shall take one last and fleeting look backward, a farewell look at past friends, a serious look at past learning, a thoughtful look at past philosophy. Commencement is a time of beginning, of hope, but it is also an ending, a time to realize what Wilson means to me and to remember the things that count.

Wilson to me is spirit, one of the things that count. Spirit is the voice of Wilson, a voice whose power comes from loyal students cheering and working together. I must face the future, but I glance back once, with a farewell look at past friends, past spirit.

We cheered together as our teams won or lost, knowing that spirit does not depend upon victory but rather upon fair competition and sportsmanship. The current of feeling in the air, the breathless silences and resounding yells, bright spots of red and gold—these are spirit.

We worked together at Thanksgiving and Christmas, helping those less fortunate than we to have a share of our happiness. We collected rags and rummage, baked cakes and washed cars; we earned money and spent it to benefit others. This, too, is spirit.

Loyal students, cheering and working together—and making friends as we did so. And if we never see these friends again, they are friends still, friends who made Wilson what it is, and made us what we are, who gave help, made suggestions, brought fun.

Wilson to me is knowledge, one of the things that count. Knowledge is the body of Wilson, whose wisdom comes from helpful teachers and diligent students. I must face the future, but I glance back once, with a serious look at past learning.

A school's purpose is to teach, and its classes are organized to give students skills ranging from solving the problems of trigonometry to solving the problems of everyday living. While we may forget the minute details that we once learned, the great concepts remain with us to stimulate our thinking and to further our understanding. It is said that education is the cornerstone of democracy, and Wilson has taught the fundamentals of learning and living which have prepared us to accept our places as citizens of that democracy.

Those places will not be easy to fill, for our world is troubled. This too we have been taught—an awareness of today's problems that we may safeguard our future. This is our nation; we must claim it! These are our lives. We must live them! Our nation? Yes! We must not let talk of the thunder clouds piled above us so numb us with fear that we are not fit to dispell that gloom. There is much to do other than wait to sink or be saved by the power of fate. One lives, of course, and we must live each moment free of a lethargy that lets us forget our blessings. We must not, however, allow complacency to blind us to our faults. This, then, is what Wilson has taught us.

We have also learned to work and accomplish under rules of an organized society. For surely Wilson has its society, and it is organized under a school government, faculty supervision and countless clubs and interest circles. Each Wilsonite, subject to the authority of more than one of these groups, has learned to govern and be governed, to accept and to delegate responsibility. Life is a series of victories and defeats, of compromises and agreements. So our society has taught us.

Wilson to me is its philosophy, one of the things that count. Philosophy is the soul of Wilson, made true by those who accept its creed. I must face the future, but I glance back once, with a thoughtful look at past—and present—philosophy.

No Wilsonite can forget the Four-Way Test, which by its position in each classroom has become a part of Wilson's philosophy. It has also become a part of those who have read, interpreted, and used its doctrines. True? Fair? Beneficial? These are the questions it asks, and those who answer. "Yes!" know the eesence and secret of success.

The plaque before Wilson's main entrance is another visible sign of the "Wilson ideal." It speaks of truth, liberty, and toleration as three of the achievements and traits of a free country and humane individuals.

Humaneness is in itself a philosophy, one which accepts in a mechanized world the importance of the individual. Man like a machine is tangible, but embodied within man are all the intangible beliefs, creations, ideals which have built civilization and which have power to destroy it. Thus the human element becomes an ever greater force, and those who underestimate its value fail to see that the only world power is in the hands of men, not in science or the machine which man has developed. A machine is delicate, but it is not the individualistic, thinking tool that man is. This, then, is Wilson's philosophy, composed of the virtues which create tolerance, acceptance, understanding.

Now I am leaving Wilson and I see lastly that Wilson to me is the future, in part. It has prepared me and taught me—but now I must take the final step. This is a beginning, and I have stopped glancing back. A whole world of adventure and opportunity lies before me, and I'm ready to meet its challenge. With spirit, knowledge, and a philosophy I face the future confidently.

This, too, We Shall Remember

Scholarship Society

The Scholarship Society at Wilson High School is the largest organization on campus. The more than 175 members all maintain a high grade average and most of them participate in other activities. There are several advantages to belonging to the Scholarship Society. Any person who is a member for four semesters is entitled to a Gold Seal on his diploma, and a six semester member receives a Phi Beta Kappa award. In addition to this, during the spring semester members take a field trip, usually to a college or university campus. In May, a banquet is held at a local restaurant, at which time special awards are given. Belonging to the Scholarship Society is both an honor and a privilege.

Students who have belonged to the Scholarship Society for four semesters, one of which was in the senior year, receive a scholarship lamp. Those persons awarded this honor are known as Sealbearers and receive a diploma with a gold seal. These awards are presented at a banquet given in May by the Scholarship Society.

Gold and Jeweled 'W'

Gold and jeweled "W's" are a symbol of outstanding achievement awarded to students who have given exceptional service to the school in student government, athletics, social and welfare clubs, music and scholarship. Over the years these awards have come to stand for the best that Wilson can produce; students so honored look upon this award as one of the most important they can earn in high school. Points earned by participation in various activities are the basis for the Gold and Jeweled award. A student who has accumulated 100 points is eligible for a Gold W; 150 points, for a jeweled W, the highest honor Wilson can bestow for outstanding achievement.

Lettermen's Club

This campus club is made up entirely of athletes who have participated in the required number of games to earn a letter. Many of their activities contribute to the student body and school in general. The sale of football magazines added considerably to the student budget. The officers, with Jim Burchfiel as president, have endeavored to maintain the quality and citizenship of every member. Most of these boys are scholastically, as well as athletically, superior. Their principle of adding tremendously to the quality and strengthening the backbone of Wilson is highly commended. If the club continues its present activities and maintains its standards, it should prove to be one of the more valorous on campus.

Senior Lettermen

N.R.O.T.C.

Three boys were chosen because of their high scores in the Navy College Aptitude test to participate in the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps. They will be appointed Midshipmen in the U.S.N.R. by the Secretary of the Navy and have tuition, textbook fees, and other educational expenses plus a fifty dollar retainer fee paid by the Navy for four years at the college of their choice. After college they will serve for three years as an ensign in the Navy.

Straight 'A' Students

Wilson's senior class boasts four students brilliant and conscientious enough to have maintained a straight "A" average throughout their high school program. They are (l. to r.) John Rowe, Judy Tucker, Carol Clark and Penny Bryant.

National Meet

Eight Wilson seniors distinguished themselves in the National Merit Scholarship competition this year. This nation-wide competition held annually, is an excellent opportunity for top high school students to show their ability and receive a generous scholarship. Out of 478,000 students who tried out, 10,000 were chosen.

Exchange Students

The exchange students' program was established to help promote good will among the nations of the world and further understanding and knowledge of other lands and people. This is accomplished by having students live in a foreign home, go to school, meet people, eat, dress, and have the same experiences that the people in the country they are visiting have.

No school day at Wilson is properly begun until the morning announcements have been made. Informing students and teachers of club activities, important schedules, examinations and meetings, the Loudspeaker technicians faithfully record the planned activities of Wilson High School. And certainly no day can be said to be suitably started until the students and teachers have heard a sharp-witted quote from "Sparks."

FALL SPORTS

These are the things that count . . .

This, too, we shall remember . . .

THE COLOR AND EXCITEMENT OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON!

The noise and cheering . . . the marching rhythm of the band . . . the swirling skirts of the song and flag girls! These are the symbols of the Wilson pep assemblies. Nothing brings us closer together as a student body; few things will be remembered with quite as much nostalgia. Long after the trials of a class are erased from our minds; long after the excitement of an athletic or classroom victory is gone; long after the pleasure or disappointment of a first date with a Wilsonite—we shall still think of the color and excitement of a pep assembly in the crowded, noisy auditorium on a crisp, Fall afternoon. To many of us this is, indeed, Wilson.

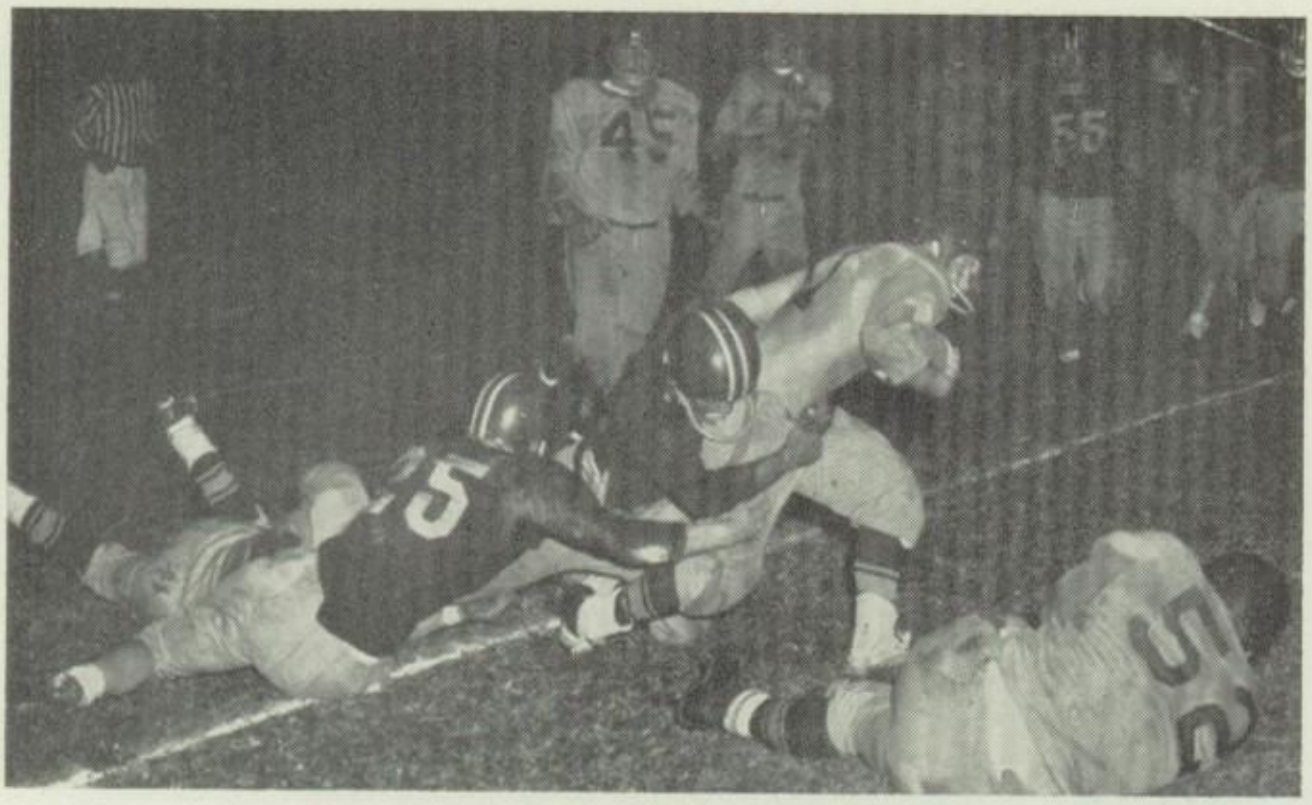
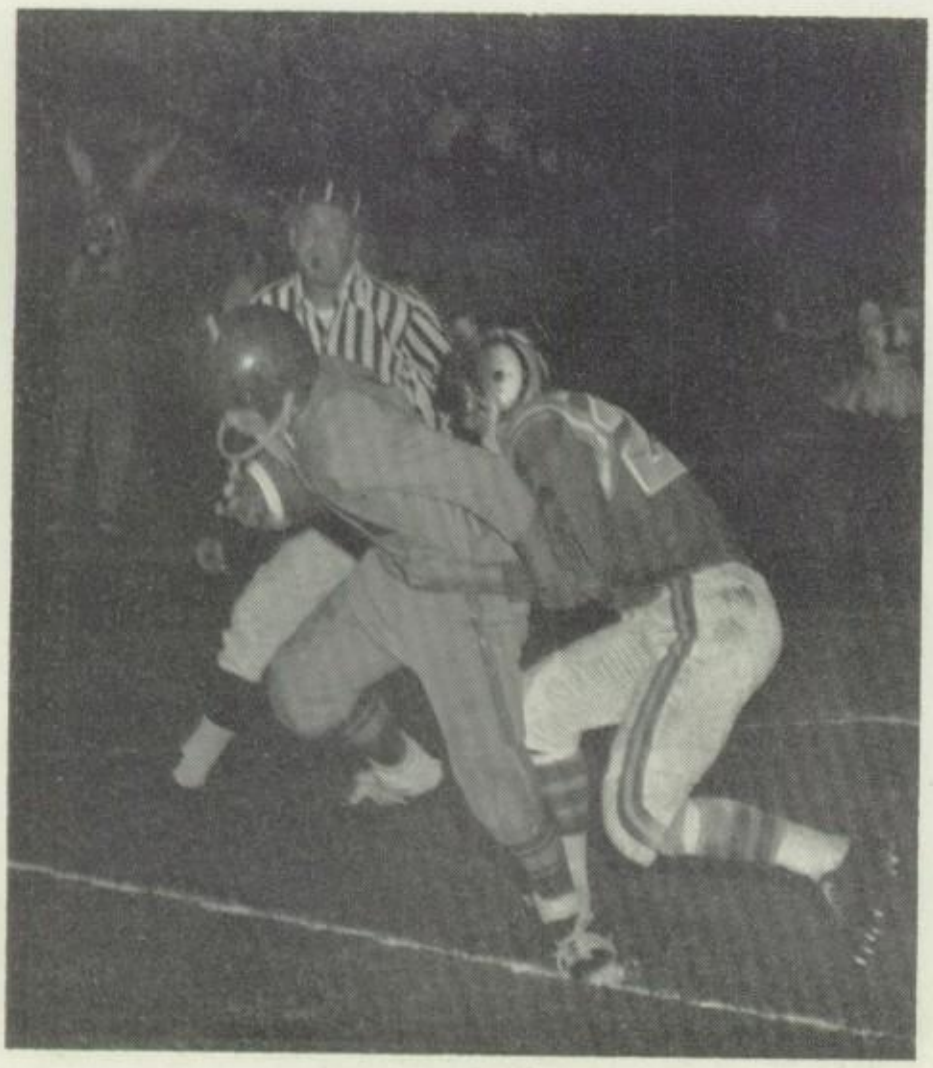
JAY NELSON



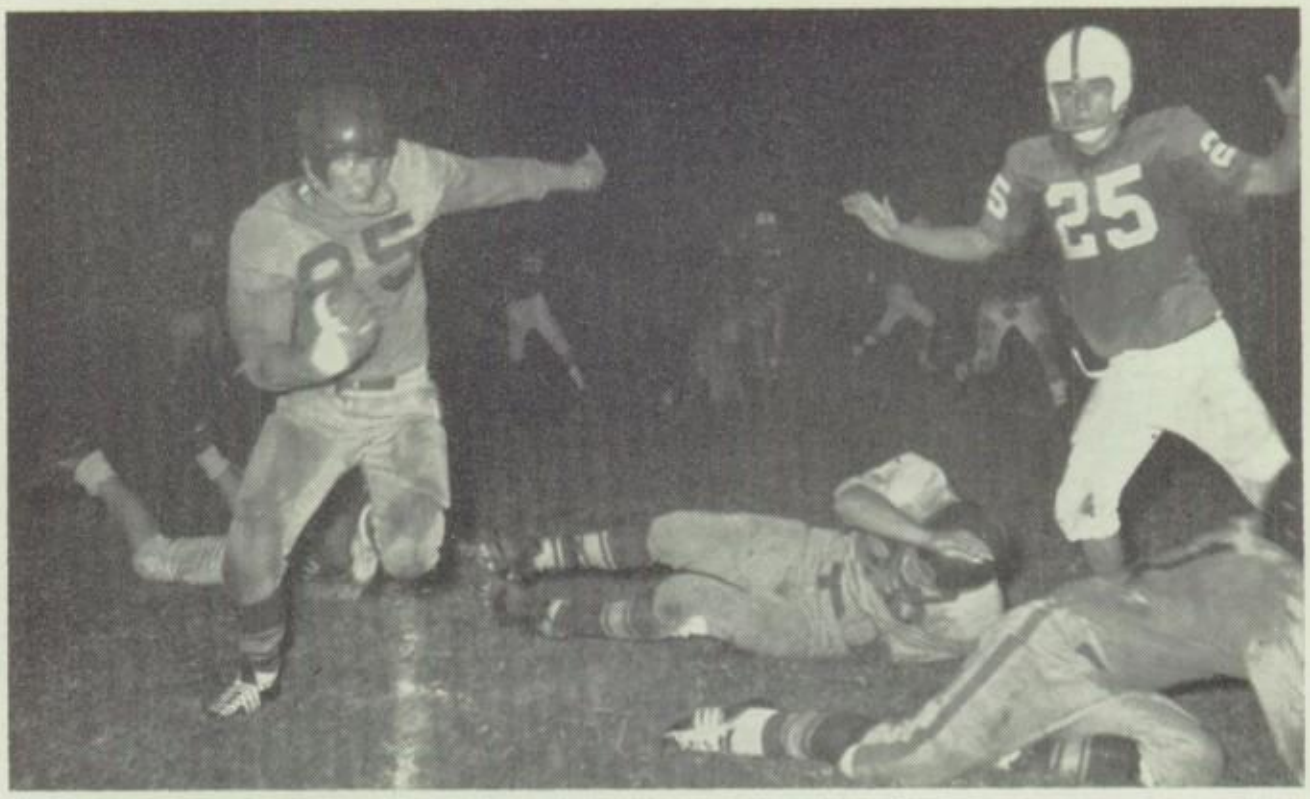
Wilson, defending Moore League champions, edged Millikan 6-0 and then bowed to a powerful Lakewood, 7-0, in the annual Milk Bowl Charity Game, which traditionally opens the football season. Still Coach Rowland said, "We are stronger and more experienced than last year's team." Roger Ehren's 35 yard run and a 25 yard touchdown pass by Bob Bailey seemed to prove him correct.

A victory over Downey, 14-6, aided by the running and passing of fullback Steve Bauer and Denny Green, encouraged the Bruins with promises of more victories ahead. Confidence was slightly deflated when Excelsior blanked Wilson 19-0, despite a strong Bruin running attack. In the last of a series of non-league clashes, Wilson ran over Mira Costa 21-6. Jim Burchfiel, Chris Dawson, and Jay Nelson each made a Wilson tally, and Don Crosby kicked three extra points.



In the league-opener against Millikan, Wilson rolled over the Rams by a score of 28-6. Victory seemed due in large part to the fine quarterbacking of Denny Green and the running of Big Jim Burchfiel. As Wilson met Jordan, the Bruins got off to a roaring start in the first quarter as backfield powerhouse, Jim Burchfiel, went 56 yards. Unfortunately Jordan proved that Panther's can roar, too, as they came back to upset Wilson, 13-12.

In the annual homecoming grid classic, defending Moore League Champion Woodrow Wilson lost a hard-fought battle to visiting Poly, 33-7. Larry Sather made the Bruin's lone tally. With the passing of Bob Bailey and the receiving of Dennis Richman, Larry Sather, and Art Frost, Wilson ran over San Pedro 26-7 at the Pirates' field. This was a non-league game as San Pedro is not in the Moore League but is in the Los Angeles City School System.



Wilson took second place in the Harry J. Moore League as they ripped Lakewood 31-6 in a season finale. Outstanding plays included Dave Richman's charge over the goal line in the first touchdown of the game and Bob Bailey's touchdown passes to Dennis Richman and Larry Sather, and another pass to Gary Norton, after which Dave Richman made the final score of the game. For the last time, seniors watched Wilson football, fully realizing its importance to spirit and sportsmanship.

Much credit for a spirited, hard-fighting team goes to Coach Rowland, who was assisted by Al Johnson, line coach, and Cliffie Meyer, backfield coach. Coach Rowland when he, himself, attended Wilson was All-City and League player in football, basketball, and baseball; All-C.I.F. in football and baseball and captain of the football and baseball teams. Said Coach Rowland of this year's season, "We were disappointed in not winning the championship, but since the winner of our league also won the CIF championship, we feel that our record was very respectable."

Bee Football Team

Cross Country

Records mean nothing as far as this year's cross country team was concerned. While finishing third in Moore League, with only two defeats, they were the most feared team in the league. Under the leadership of Coach Jack Huffman, they opened their season without the services of their leading runner. They lost to the league champs Millikan by only four points, a truly remarkable feat. Next came another close loss to Poly, this time by seven points. Then with Gary Malizia, Bill Best, Tim Kearns, Mike Gruell, Richard Neal, and Sherwin Cotler leading the way, they ran over Jordan by 17 points and Lakewood by 33 points. Richard Neal and Bill Best were elected co-captains at the end of the season. Gary Malizia won all-city honors.

Awards Assembly

Letters and other athletic awards presented at Wilson's Awards Assembly are given in recognition for athletic achievement and service to the student body. These assemblies are conducted by the Governor of Athletics three times a year. To qualify for an athletic award, the boy must participate in at least fifty percent of the team's scheduled athletic contests. He must also meet with certain scholarship and citizenship standards. Pictured on this page are winners of these coveted awards in the Fall assembly. The assembly was conducted by the Fall Governor of Athletics, and his assistant, Mary G. Mersky.

LAUREL JOLLY—Fall Semester President

September twelfth was the day of days for the Girls' League. It marked the beginning of a year brim-packed with excitement and enthusiasm for coming events. Sophomores got their first glimpse of Wilson High, a long-awaited and much-anticipated thrill. For juniors and seniors it meant the renewal of friendships with previously initiated Bruin females. Need we say more! It was the annual Big-Little Sister Picnic! The following weeks brought new spirit and a more relaxed feeling of belonging for the new sophomores. There were authentic afternoon teas with a fashion showing of Wilson's Campus Styles held in the Girls' Physical Education Social Hall. As a result enthusiasm was bubbling over for Girls' League and actual on-the-job practice was available for all wishing to join in the fun. The first showing of their combined efforts was displayed in the annual All-

School Fashion Show put on by the Girls' League Modes and Manners Committee entitled, "White Christmas." Appreciation was respectfully demonstrated to faculty members and the ever-willing sponsors, Mrs. Roberts and Miss Davis, at a Faculty Christmas Tea. Other activities for the semester included a before-game Pizza Party and a pom pom sale, all contributions to a very successful 1958-1959 term. Girls' League is continuously striving to better its organization and endeavors to encourage more and more girls to become active members. With this aim in mind the Girls League organizations in all city, state, and county high schools are annually holding conferences to assist in bettering these organizations that are so beneficial to young girls and womanhood.

The Fashion Show

Against the wintery background of blue and silver, Wilson viewed the annual Fashion Show presented by the Girls' League. Buffums' lent the fashions, which were worn by members of clubs on the Wilson campus. The program ran the gamut of fashions; starting with casual school clothes, it went through sports clothes, date clothes, and ended with evening apparel.

Plane Geometry

One of the many academic classes designed to prepare students for higher mathematics and careers in related fields, plane geometry is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. To enroll in geometry, a student must first complete the first year course in algebra. Plane geometry introduces the study of lines, angles, triangles, polygons, ratio, proportion, circles, as well as the more familiar flat-surface geometric shapes which surround us on every hand. The methods used in geometry, dating back to the ancient Greeks, aid a student in clarifying his processes of deductive reason.

Public Speaking

The primary purpose of studying public speaking is to help a student understand the principles of speech. Oral communication is our most frequently used means of communication and therefore a study of the techniques of speech would benefit every student. Experiment in public speaking aids a student develop poise and an easy manner before an audience. In the speech class a student practices debate, group discussion, panel discussion and general informal conversation. This is one class which prepares a student to do better in any vocation he has chosen to follow.

Graphic Arts

The Wilson print shop performs a multitude of valuable services to the school. Boys enrolled in this class have not only the satisfaction of serving the school, but they are learning a most important skill as well. There is always a demand for expert printers well trained. Wilson students gain invaluable experience in this field by helping to print the school newspaper, as well as by setting type and printing material used in other departments of the school.

Sight Conservation

One of several classes serving the needs of students in special ways, the class in sight conservation helps provide a normal education for students who have sight deficiencies. For some pupils there are special texts available; for others, special machines help make reading less of a strain. There are specially designed typewriters available so that pupils in this class can produce written work for an assignment, and yet do so without straining their sight.

Although the Wilson basketballers always take a high spot in the league, the team this year had a particularly successful season. Taking second place in the Moore League, the Wilson varsity basketball squad went on to play in the second round of the C.I.F. playoffs. They lost to a powerful team from Mira Costa. The Wilson squad was paced by Casey Cox—named All-City Center—and a junior, John Boyd. An injury to Gary Shindler hampered the team in midseason. Gary Vestermark stepped into Shindler's spot and did an outstanding job.

Physiology

Physiology is a study of the human body, its structure, functions, and proper care under normal conditions. Anatomy and functions of the body are correlated with a broad survey of the practical considerations of hygiene and personal and public health. Circulation, muscles, bone structure, reproduction, the digestive system, and tissues are some of the topics that are covered during the year. This course is open only to juniors and seniors. It fulfills the university entrance requirement.

Campanile Class

The Campanile class is open to recommended juniors and seniors. The class is responsible for putting out Wilson's yearbook. Students of the class are in charge of the class picture schedule. They are also responsible for choosing the theme and cover design. Campanile students also work out their advertising campaign and sell the books themselves.

Chemistry

Included in the Science program at Wilson High School is a beginning course in Chemistry. This science, which is taught to over two hundred students, deals with the composition of matter and the changes in composition that this matter undergoes. Through chemical experiments in the laboratory and textbook discussions the world of Chemistry becomes real.

Wilsonites in various classes serve the community in many ways. (Top) During the Christmas season the social living classes collect food which is distributed by the student government class through charitable agencies. (Center) The Physiology classes, enormously popular with both junior and senior students, studies the anatomy of living things in part through the process of dissection. (Lower) The art department drew illustrations to advertise the production of "Dino" by the dramatic students; these drawings hung in the auditorium display cases.

MEISTERSINGERS

In December the well-known Negro arranger-composer, Jester Hairston, came to Wilson to give the A Cappella choir a history and interpretation of the songs they were practicing for the California Music Educators Conference. The students thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Hairston's dynamic conducting, his stories of the "Old South" and his recitation of "George and the Cherry Tree." When Mr. Hairston had left, Mr. Ellithorpe voiced the feelings of the entire choir as he said, "You have had the privilege of working with a very great person. You will feel your music more now."

Band

The Woodrow Wilson band and orchestra are directed by Mr. Furjanick, who is also the concert master of the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra. The Wilson orchestra plays at assemblies and school plays. This year they will perform at the operetta put on by Wilson students. The band helps school spirit and prestige by playing at all our football games, most of the basketball games, and our pep rallies. The welcome "charge" by the trumpet would be heartily missed if our band wasn't there, and the singing of our Alma Mater is always assisted by our Wilson band.

Music council has been represented in Student Government Class for the first time this year. The council itself is made up of the officers and an elected representative of each music group at Wilson. Their main purpose is to coordinate the student body activities with those of the music organizations. In addition to this, they sponsor Klub Kapers and help with the American Field Service Program. Music council held their annual Harmony Hop this year; it was very successful. The council is guided by Mr. Furjanick and Mr. Ellithorpe.

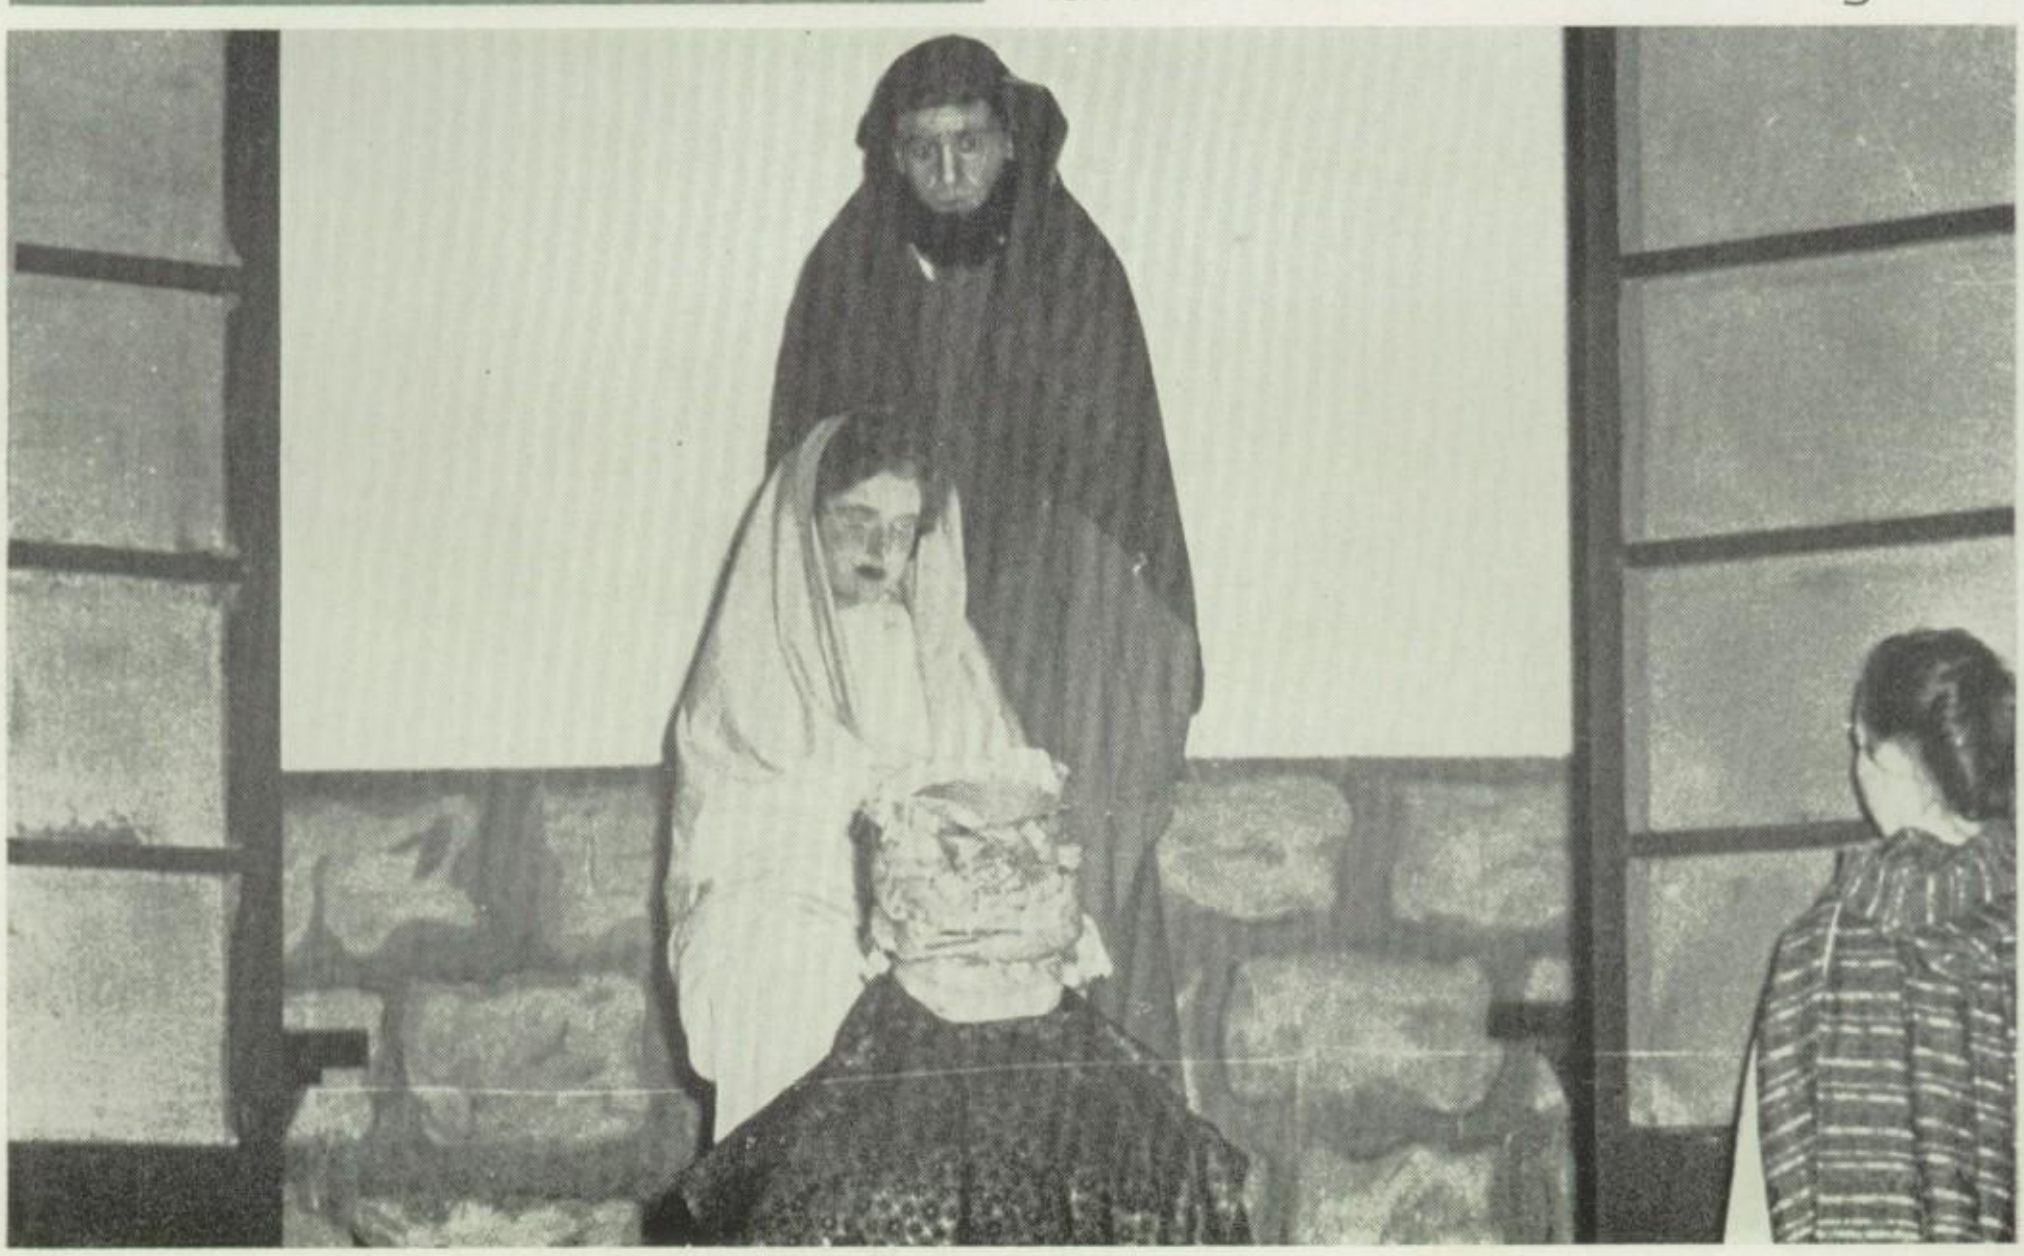
Scene from Christmas Pageant



As a departure from last year's comedy, Harvey, the advanced drama class presented the psychological drama Dino, which involved a boy's return from a reformatory. In leading roles were seniors Ken Anderson, Phil Nash, Tom Gillespie, Babara Sosebee, Teri Pond, Jim Burns, Bruce Siriani, Alan Ross and Kathleen Morey. The technical problems of the production were managed by Mr. Valentino's classes. Make-up was created by Mr. McBade's third period beginning drama class. In addition to providing the audience with a memorable performance, it gave the players a better insight into acting and their own problems. The play was well chosen because it dealt with some of the conflicts common to many of our youth of today.

Through all the trials of scheduling and deadlines a yearbook staff each year always charts a course toward the final production of a volume of pictures and text. As always, this year's Campanile records the activities of the Wilson student body for another year — both our diary as seniors and our book of memories, visibly recording the things we will always want to remember about our school years. No book as complex as this, however, can be produced without the help not only of all the teachers and administrators of our school but of others as well. This year we want to thank particularly Mr. Caywood, of the Press-Telegram engravers, and the Lynn Hawkins Studio, for outstanding service beyond the call of duty.

All the news all the time? Perhaps not, but as much news as can be crammed into sixteen issues of the Wilson Loudspeaker. Under the direction of editor Penny Bryant, the staff strives to uphold journalistic principles and the award-winning tradition of the Wilson newspaper. In addition to the Loudspeaker work, the class assisted in the creation of Wilson's "Nu Fu" under Don Stone's direction; also the staff publicized the school events in local newspapers.

"Annie Get Your Gun"

This year the music and dance departments, aided by the drama department, the stage crew, and many other groups produced a musical operetta. Played for the public late in May, the musical comedy was widely applauded. Caught here are the principals in the cast, practicing their roles before scenery or chorus groups have been assembled.

The operetta dancers, costumed for the wild west as musically portrayed in Annie Get Your Gun, were trained for their roles throughout most of the second semester by Miss Belcher of the Girls' P.E. Department. Uniting with the chorus and the principal singers, the dancers did much to make the final production a memorable one.

IGS THAT COUNT . . .

Towards the Pinnacle

From all our youthful hearts comes forth a hope
That we may never falter in our ways,
That we may reach the peak of life's broad slope,
And that upon the pinnacle we'll raise
A flag to thank the forces that did mold
Our goals. For from this noble school arose
The inspiration that did leave us bold
Upon the mountain side. And here we chose
To be always a tool or ray of light
And help to make our molders proud to be
Our inspirations, and when time's swift flight
Is past, our deeds may further make men free.
We are the offspring of this hallowed ground.
Here we were taught; here we new values found.

The Wanderer

It skimmed along the waves one day;
Upon the waves it stood:
A particle sent from the shore,
A tiny piece of wood.

And yet it was much more than that,
This splinter viewed by me:
It represented all mankind
Adrift upon the sea.

The waves rose in defiance,
And tossed their white-capped heads,
But the particle remained afloat;
A charmed life it still led.

The tattered wood was tossed and turned
Amidst the angry foam,
That tiny, meager piece of wood
Which journeyed all alone.

Yet when the sea had calmed itself,
Upon the waves it stood:
I wonder if that is mankind,
Or just a piece of wood?

Widened Hope

The world is patient. It will wait
For one with God's gift to create—
To paint on paper, put in word
The beauty which is thus transferred,
Is mirrored, multiplied, recaptured.
Until the world becomes enraptured.
The future holds a widened hope,
The greatest works within her scope.
We of the future must not cease
Until we find the perfect peace.

Spirit

Can you hear the echoes ringing from the wild football cheers?

They're a part of Wilson spirit, but the rest escapes our ears.

Quiet spirit, much the greater part, pervades the Wilson halls—

Pride in scholarship, appearance; pride in our familiar walls;

Spirit for the old traditions and a will to do the best—

Wilson's spirit, ever-present, lifts her far above the rest.

Dear Linda,

Well, this school year is finally coming to a close. We really have had some good times together. Sorry I fell and couldn't play tennis with you. I really wanted to. Maybe next year since we have P.E. together again. Or else you and Richard will play Bill and me (if I can talk Bill into it when he comes home) I hope we get together a lot this summer. I know we will next year at school. We had a lot of fun in German French Club. Especially with Mr. Karlik, our great sponsor. We had so many meetings! Christmas time was a lot of fun. I'm glad Richard came to the party too.

We've also had fun kidding around with Mr. Hendricks and his dear friend Mr. O'Byrne.

Hope you and Richard have a long and wonderful, happy life together.

Enjoy yourself this summer and always.

Love ya,

Judy Spitler

Turn Not to Return

How futile to say "au revoir" when we May never meet again, to say, "I will
"Return," when I can not recapture here,
By looking back, my "once-upon-a-time."
Oh better far to turn my back and cry
"Good-by! I leave. I loved but may not stay."

Sun and Rain

It's an old world and a tired world,
And it's we who are the strong
Who will keep it now from sinking
With destruction as its song.

Let the old sing of its chaos.
Let them dim its once bright glow,
But the youth are here to love it
When the older critics go.

It is we who will inherit
Civilization and, alert,
We will clean it and will heal it
And will cure it of its hurt.

Yes, for we are young and thoughtful
And we've many years to trod
Down the path that others hued out
Of the once bare prairie sod.

They have struggled up to help us
Live an easier, happier life.
Now they say they have brought us
To a whirlwind storm of strife.

Let them say it is the monster,
Who is made of sweat and steel,
Who will bring us to destruction,
For we know they cannot feel

All the youthful optimism,
Still with knowledge of the pain.
We shall be the sun to dry earth
From the torrent of their rain.

—Penny Bryant

Linda,
The years are going by faster every time. I have known you for quite a few years. I sit here remembering what we signed yearbooks. I also remember in just this last year two events which we were both in. The German-French Club party at Joly and the Christmas party at Judy's house. We had a lot of good times here at school. Best of luck to one of the most intelligent girls I know. Hope to see you next year. Until then Adios

Remembering

Don't forget the color days,
The fun we had, the brilliant plays,
The times we won—and times we lost—
We played our best at any cost.
We always kept our spirit by
And loudly cheered for Wilson High.
And when we're gone the halls will ring
As spirits start remembering.

Memories

Oh, memories, how wonderful you are
Now that I am young,
Gathering up within my mind,
Unknown to eye and ear and hand,
But true, and sharp, and living things
To thoughts and dreams and pure emotion.
When years have passed,
And my very bones be worn from constant use,
Oh, memories, be images of a good full life,
Though mellowed and faded.
Be my sweet consolation,
The comforter, the pillow
For my furrowed face,
And with me till the end.

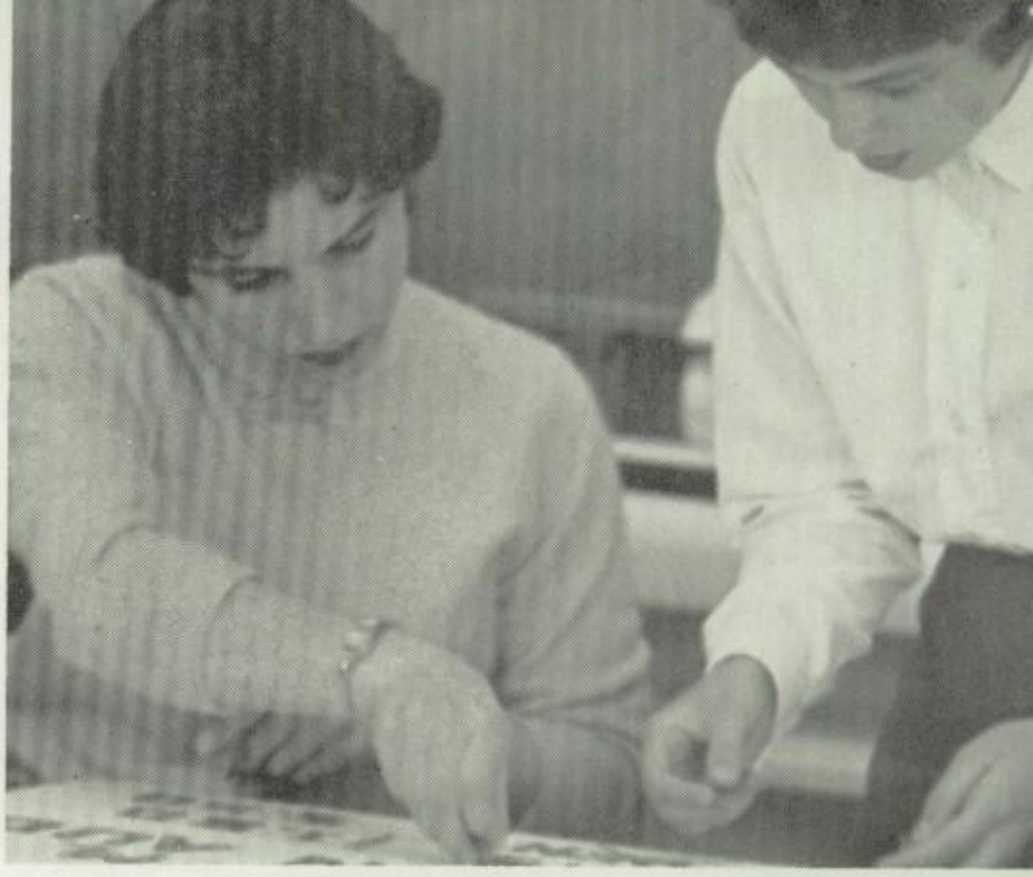
LIFE

at

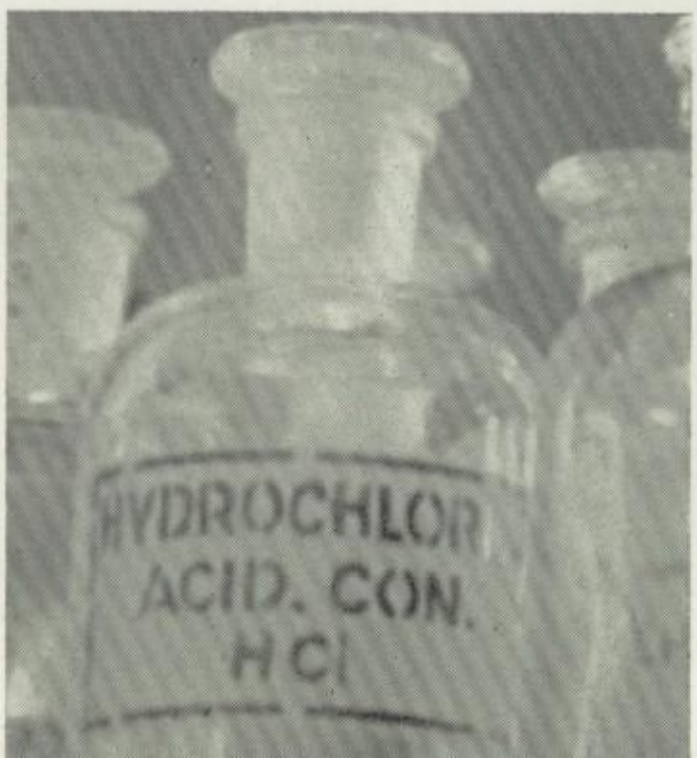
WOODROW WILSON HIGH SCHOOL

Wilson life is more than countless activities, for school means classes—study—learning. Catching glimpsse of such a typical school day, Roger Minniear has produced a photo essay showing how hard a Wilson student actually works. Barbara Nishkian worked and smiled at Minniear's candid camera as she went through seven periods of one senior girl's school day.

Second period: gym. Here Barbara finds friends, a blue uniform, action — a welcome interlude of activity in a school day. There is satisfaction in hard exercise, and in a game well-played.

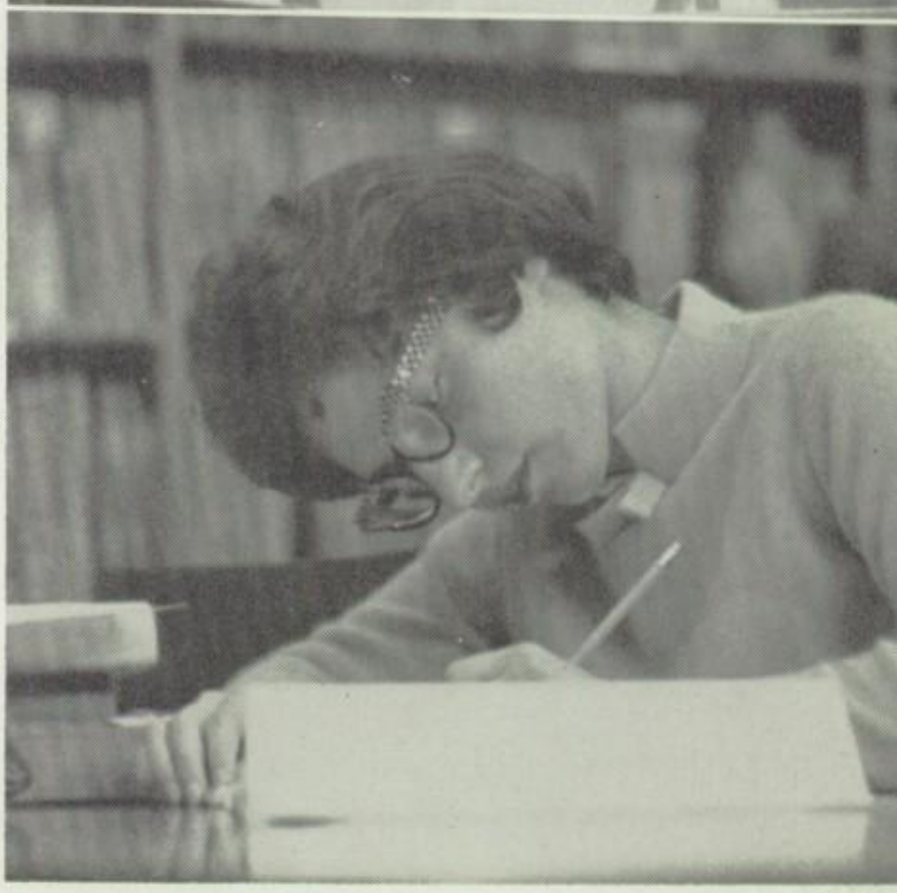


A break to talk to friends: that is nutrition. Then Barbara went to government class. Here she engaged in planning, organizing, acting as the executive for the activity she represents. Barbara conferred with both the teacher and other students in preparing her work for the day.



Concentration, concentrated Hydrochloric Acid, lab manuals: this symbolizes a period in chemistry.

Only 103 elements and Barbara finds they have formed a world.



Lunch time and time for food and friends. Here Barbara spends part of her time in final preparation for her afternoon classes. The hot dog and the text book, as well as a trip to the library, are each part of the relaxation Barbara finds during her lunch hour.

Sixth and seventh period bring Barbara's day to a close. Then school is over. Barbara has played hard, studied hard, had fun. To her these things are Wilson — the common, routines which make up "the fairest high school in our land." To Barbara Nishkian, this typical day will number among

The Bruin Den

The past year has really been a swinging one for the Bruin Den. The year began with a really terrific All-city dance. Many equally fabulous dances followed. The after-game dances were especially enjoyable, particularly when Wilson had won the game! After the football season came various band as well as record dances. They were all lots of fun for everyone—and that is one of the things that really count!

Student Body Store

Wilson's Student Body Store serves many purposes. Here students have the opportunity to meet their friends and purchase school supplies, such as ink, notebooks, Wilson pep articles and school pens and pins. In addition to school supplies, fountain confections are also sold. The Student Body Store also takes over the selling of senior class rings and graduation announcements. Students may purchase ice cream, cokes, sundaes, candy and assorted soft drinks. During lunch, the Student Body store serves as a learning class for store workers; students receive class credit as in any regular class. The students work behind the counter, at the cash register, and engage in actual selling. Few Wilson students realize that all the money from their purchases go back into their own student body fund. Mrs. Robinson is the store supervisor and Mr. Haun is faculty sponsor.

Greta's, your fashion store in Belmont Shore, outfits you from a day at the beach or the Prom. Sally Springer, Lambda Phi President, and Rae Demler, Campanile editor, are both ready for vacation. Sally models a topette outfit of Sierra Tweed, and Rae, a v-neck bathing suit of orlon and lastex by "Catalina" just right for these hot summer days. Jennifer Losch, President of Ami, wear a chiffon dress, her choice for the prom.

For summer dresses and sportswear, Karen Pederson, Steph Raphael, and Sue Beebe will tell you Idelle's is the place to shop. Karen is wearing an empire waist, full sleeve dress of cotton lurex. A floral print is the one Steph has chosen. It features drop sleeves, a diagonal waist-line and a full, full skirt. Sue models an ever popular drip-dry striped cotton sundress. These three styles are appropriate for school as well as that all-important date.

Wayne Striegel, Sandy Jensen, Tom Heinsohn and Jack Bub are wise Wilson students with a serious view of the future. They know how important savings can be and, thanks to savings accounts, they won't have to worry about future plans involving money. It is always assuring to know that their account is insured up to $10,000 and that savings accounts dividends are higher.

Tom Heinsohn, popular Governor of Athletics, pins a corsage on Rae Demler, editor of Campanile. Tom prefers to buy his corsages at Dixie's Flower Shop, because there he finds not only special student rates but the highest quality and the personal attention necessary to the design of a fine corsage — a product of which any girl would be proud. With two refrigerators, it is not surprising that Dixie has won awards for flower work over the years. For the best in floral work on every occasion follow Tom's example: Patronize Dixie's!

For an ideal vacation, these high school students suggest buying a trailer from the Kit Manufacturing Co. With such a trailer the summer could include trips to the mountains, to a distant seashore, or to any other point you might wish to go. At a low cost and in comfort like your own home, you couldn't find a more pleasant way to spend a vacation. Tom Heinsohn, Tom Romain, Sharon McNew, Jack Bub, Wayne Striegel and Sandy Jensen are here displaying the comfort and roominess of a modern kit trailer.
